

115 Taylors Road, Buderim

Ultimate private retreat - in the heart of Buderim

This unique lifestyle home is the largest privately-held property left in Buderim. Just minutes from the centre of town, it is a magical 48-acres of eucalypt forests, cleared paddocks, winding trails and waterfalls.

At its heart is a large, tri-level four-bedroom homestead offering panoramic views across countryside to the ocean and mountains.

Native birds and animals abound across the landscape of pristine woods and palm groves, and there are five cleared acres, four permanent creeks and three kilometres of trails perfect for walking, horse riding and biking. Close to the house are a large swimming pool, gardens with mature fruit trees and the perfect levelled tennis court arena.

The house lends itself to dual living, with a lower floor offering scope for a generous separate home, guest wing or palatial teen retreat. There's currently a bedroom, bathroom, laundry and large living area downstairs, leading out to the garden and offering separate access.

The middle floor features a large living/dining area with wood-burning fire, double-height ceilings and a good-sized kitchen - all with beautiful outlooks.

The spacious main bedroom, plus large bathroom with claw-foot bath, are also on this level. Upstairs are two more large bedrooms and another spacious family room.

Timber floors and supports feature throughout the home, with generous verandahs on each level providing perfect vantage points across the surrounding environs.

Outside, there's a four-car garage with workshop. The garden is an incredible natural children's playground, while the numerous herbs, flowers and shrubs ensure year-round colour and an abundance of birdlife.

This is a rare opportunity to own something truly unique - just minutes from the centre of Australia's most sought-after property suburb.
